Conclusion

 The strategy of the Federation lies in total funding of the best competitors, in strengthening the base and work on increasing the number of competitors in the category of children and infants. Looking forward of succeeding in our aims in future we expect all support we can get possible as member of FIS family.

 In development phase in which our federation is now we have to have a president with strong personality who can face the problems of budgeting even when the results do not respond the level of funding.

 We will have lot of opportunities to test ourselves until Sochi, but real results we expect the Olympics to come after Sochi.
